THE MESSAGE.

DELAYED TWO DAYS FOR THE HOUSE TO ORGANIZE.

The Great Questions of the Day Discussed and Many Measures Recommended. Loans to Nicaragua Canal Favored.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.

At noon to-day President Harrison sent in his annual message, which would fill a dozen columns if printed in full. Below is given the most salient points of the document.

To the Senate and House of Representatives: The reports of the heads of the several executive departments required by law to be submitted to me, and the report of the secretary of the treasury and the attorney general furnish a comprehensive review of the administrative work of the last fiscal year relating to internal affairs. It would be of great advantage if these reports could have an attentive perusal by every member of congress and by all who take an interest in public affairs. Such a perusal could not fail to excite a higher appreciation of the vast labor and conscientious efforts which are given to the conduct of our civil administration. The reports will, I believe, show that every question has been approached, considered and decided from the standpoint of public duty and upon considerations affecting the public interests alone. Again I invite to every branch the attention and scrutiny of congress.

The work of the state department during the last year has been characterized by an unusual large number of important negotiations and by diplomatic results of a notable and a highly beneficial character. Among these are which have been concluded in the exercise of the powers conferred by section 8 of the Tariff law with the republic of Brazil, with Spain for its West Indian possessions and with San Domingo. Like negotiations with other countries have been much advanced, and, it is hoped, that before the close of the year further definitive trade arrangements of great value will be concluded.

The president briefly reviews the Bering sea controversy, tells of the success attending the negotiations, and asserts that the restrictive measures have proved as effective as could be expected. He says:

In my last annual message I stated that the bases of arbitration proposed by her majesty's government was not acceptable. I am glad now to be able to announce that terms satisfactory to this government have been agreed upon, and that agreement as to the arbitrators is all that is necessary to the completion of the convention. In view of the advanced position this government has taken on the subject of international arbitration, this renewed expression of our adherence to this method for the settlement of disputes, such as have arisen on the Bering sea, will, I doubt not, meet with the concurrence of congress. Provision should be made for a joint demarkation of the frontier line between Canada and the United States.

The president announces that the intercession of this country to settle the boundary dispute between England and Venezuela has not proved successful.

He calls attention to the fact that the retaliation law and the establishment of meat inspection has resulted in the admission of American meats into Germany, Denmark, Italy, Austria and France.

The Lynching at New Orleans

in March last of eleven men of Italian nativity by a mob of citizens was a most deplorable and discreditable incident. It did not, however, have its origin in any general animosity to the Italian people, nor in any disrespect to the government of Italy, with which our relations were of the most friendly character. The fury of the mob was directed against these men as the supposed participants in or accessories to the murder of a city officer. I do not allude to this as mitigating in any degree this offense against law and humanity, but only as affecting the international questions which grew out of it.

It was represented by the Italian minister that several of those whose lives had been taken by the mob were Italian subjects, and a demand was made for the punishment of the participants and an indemnity to the families of those who were killed. It is to be regretted that the manner in which these claims were presented was not such as to promote a calm discussion of the questions involved, but this may well be attributed to the excitement and indignation which the crime naturally evoked. The views of this government as to its obligations to foreigners domiciled here were fully stated in the correspondence as well as its purpose to make an investigation of the affair with a view to determine whether there were present any circumstances that would, under such rules of duty as we had indicated, create an obligation upon the United States. The temporary absence of a minister plenipotentiary at this capital has retarded the further correspondence, but it is not doubted that a friendly conclusion is attainable.

Some suggestions growing out of this unhappy incident are worthy of the attention of congress. It would, I believe, be entirely competent for congress to make offenses against the treaty rights of foreigners domiciled in the United States cognizable in the Federal courts. This has not, however, been done, and the Federal officers and courts have no power in such cases to intervene, either for the protection of a foreign citizen or for the punishment of his slayers. It seems to me, to follow in this form of law, that the officers of the state charged with the police and judicial powers in such cases must, in the consideration of international questions growing out of such incidents, be regarded in such sense as Federal agents as to make this government answerable for their acts in cases where it would be answerable if the United States had used its constitutional power to define and punish crimes against treaty rights.

The Civil War in Chile, which began in January last, was continued, but fortunately with infrequent and not important armed collisions until Aug. 8, when the Congressional forces landed near Valparaiso, and after a bloody engagement captured that city. President Balmaceda at once recognized that his cause was lost, and a provisional government was specially established by the victorious party. Our minister was promptly directed to recognize and put himself in communication with this government so soon as it should have established a de facto character, which was done. During the pendency of this civil contest frequent indirect appeals were made to this government to extend belligerent right to the insurgents and to give audience to their representatives. This was declined, and that policy was pursued throughout which this government, when wrenched by civil war, so strenuously insisted upon the part of European nations.

The Itata, an armed vessel commanded by a naval officer of the insurgent fleet, manned by its sailors and with soldiers on board, was seized under process of the United States court at San Diego, Cal., for a violation of our neutrality laws. While in the custody of an officer of the court, the vessel was forcibly wrested from his control and put to sea. It would have been inconsistent with the dignity and self respect of this government not to have insisted that the Itata should be returned to San Diego, to abide the judgment of the court. This was so clear to the junta of the congressional party established at Iquique that before the arrival of the Itata at that port, the secretary of foreign relations of the provisional government addressed Rear Admiral Brown, commanding the United States naval forces, a communication from which the following is an extract: "The provisional government had learned by the cablegrams of the Associated Press that the transport Itata detained in San Diego by order of the United States, for taking on board munitions of war, and in possession of the marshal left the port carrying on board this official, who was landed at a point on the coast, and then continued her voyage. If this news is correct, the government would deplore the conduct of the Itata, and as an evidence that it is not disposed to support or agree to the infraction of the laws of the United States, the undersigned takes advantage of the personal relations you have been good enough to maintain since your arrival in this port, to declare to you that as soon as she is within reach of our orders, we will put the Itata, with the arms and munitions she took in at San Diego, at the disposition of the United States."

A trial in the district court of the United States for the southern district of California has recently resulted in a decision holding, among other things, that, inasmuch as the congressional party had not been recognized as belligerant, the acts done in its interest could not be a violation of our neutrality laws. From this judgment the United States has appealed, not that the condemnation of the vessel is a matter of importance, but that we may know what the present state of our law is. If this construction of the statute be correct there is obvious necessity for revision and amendment.

During the progress of the war in Chile this government tendered its good offices to bring about a peaceful adjustment, and it was at one time hoped that a good result might be reached, but in this we were disappointed. The instructions to our naval officers and to our minister at Santiago from the first to the last of this struggle enjoined upon them the most impartial treatment and absolute non-interference. I am satisfied that these instructions were observed and that our representatives were always watchful to use their influence impartially in the interest of humanity, and on more than one occasion did so effectively. We could not forget, however, that this government was in diplomatic relations with the then established government of Chile, and it is now in such relations with the successor of that government. I am quite sure that President Montt, who has, under circumstances of promises for the peace of Chile, been installed as president of that republic, will not desire that in the unfortunate event of any revolt against his authority, the policy of this government should be other than which we have recently observed.

of the conduct of our minister or our naval officers during the struggle has been presented to this government, and it is a matter of regret that so many of our own people should have given ear to unofficial charges and complaints that manifestly had their origin in rival interests and in a wish to pervert the relations of the United States with Chile. The collapse of the government of Balmaceda brought about a condition which is unfortunately too familiar in the history of the Central and South American states. With the overthrow of the Balmaceda government he and many of his counsellors and officers became fugitives for their lives and appealed to the commanding officers of the foreign naval vessels in the harbor of Valparaiso and to the resident foreign ministers at Santiago for an asylum. The asylum was freely given, according to my information, by the naval vessels of several foreign powers and by several of the legations at Santiago. The American minister, as well as his colleagues, acting under the impulse of humanity, extended asylum to political refugees, whose lives were in peril. I have not been willing to direct the surrender of such of these persons as are still in the American legation without suitable understandings.

It is believed that the government of Chile is not in a position, in view of the precedents in which it has been connected, to broadly deny the right of asylum, and the correspondence has not thus far presented any such denial. The treatment of our minister, for a time, was such as to call for a decided protest, and it was very gratifying to observe that unfriendly measures, which were undoubtedly the result of the prevailing excitement, were at once rescinded or suitably relaxed.

On the 16th of October an event occurred in Valparaiso, so serious and tragic in its circumstances and results as to very justly excite the indignation of our people and to call for prompt and decided action on the part of this government. A considerable number of sailors of the United States steamship Baltimore, then in the harbor of Valparaiso, being upon shore leave and unarmed, were assaulted by armed men nearly simultaneously in different localities in the city. One petty officer was killed outright, and seven or eight seamen were seriously wounded, one of whom has since died. So savage and brutal was the assault that several of our sailors received more than two and as many as eight stab wounds. An investigation was promptly made of the affair by a board of officers of the Baltimore and their report shows that these assaults were unprovoked; that our men were conducting themselves in a peaceable and orderly manner, and that some of the police of the city took part in the assault and used their weapons with fatal effect, while a few others with some well disposed citizens endeavored to protect our men. Thirty-six of our sailors were arrested and some of them while being taken to prison were cruelly beaten and maltreated. The fact that they were all discharged, no criminal charge being lodged against any one of them, shows very clearly that they were innocent of a breach of the peace.

So far as I have yet been able to learn no other explanation of this bloody work has been suggested than that it had its origin in hostility to these men as sailors of the United States, wearing the uniform of their government, and not in any individual act or personal animosity.

The attention of the Chilean government was at once called to this affair and a statement of the facts obtained by the investigation we had conducted was submitted, accompanied by a request to be advised of other or qualifying facts in the possession of the Chilean government that might believe this affair of the appearance of an insult to this government. The Chilean government was at once advised that if any such qualifying facts did not exist this government would confidently expect full and prompt reparation. It is to be regretted that the reply of the secretary for foreign affairs of the provisional government was couched in an offensive tone. To this no response has been made.

This government is now awaiting the result of an investigation which has been conducted by the criminal court at Valparaiso. It is reported unofficially that the investigation is about completed and thas the result will soon be communicated to this government, together with some adequate and satisfactory response by which the attention of Chile was called to this incident. If these just expectations should be disappointed, or further needless delay intervene, I will by a special message bring this matter to the attention of congress for such action as may be necessary.

The Chinese Question,

The late outbreak against foreigners in various parts of the Chinese government has been a cause of deep concern, in view of the numerous establishments of our citizens in the interior of that country. This government can do no less than insist upon a continuance of the protective and punitory measures which the Chinese government has heretofore applied. No effort will be omitted to protect our citizens peaceably sojourning in China, but recent unofficial information indicates that what was at first regarded as an outbreak of mob violence against foreigners has assumed the form of insurrection against public order. The Chinese government has declined to receive Mr. Blair as the minister of the United States on the ground that he was a participant as a senator in the enactment of the existing legislation against the introduction of Chinese laborers he has become unfriendly and objectionable to China, and I have felt constrained to point out to the Chinese government the untenableness of this position, which seems to rest as much upon the acceptability of our legislation as on that of the person chosen, and which, it admits, would practically bar the selection of any representative as long as the existing laws remain in force.

You will be called upon to consider the expediency of making special provision by law for the temporary admission of some Chinese artisans and laborers in connection with the exhibit of Chinese industries at the approaching Columbian exposition. I regard as desirable the Chinese exhibit be facilitated in every proper way.

The president calls attention to the fact that Spain will hold a Columbian exhibition beginning Sept. 12, and he recommends that this country take proper means to make a suitable display there.

The work of the intercontinental railway is progressing well. Three surveying parties are in the field and nearly one thousand miles of the route surveyed, including the difficult part in Ecuador and Colombia.

An appropriation to determine the boundary between the United States and Mexico is recommended.

The Death of King Kalukaua

in the United States afforded occasion to testify our friendship for Hawaii by conveying the king's body to his own land in an available vessel, with all due honors. The government of his successor, Queen Liliuokalani, is seeking to promote closer commercial relations with the United States. Surveys for the much needed sub-marine cable from our Pacific coast to Honolulu are in progress.

The Annual Report of the Maritime Canal company of Nicaragua shows that much costly and necessary preparatory work has been done during the year in the construction of shops, railroad tracks and harbor piers and breakwaters, and that the work of canal construction has made some progress. I deem it to be a matter of the highest concern to the United States that this canal connecting the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and giving us a short water communication between our ports upon these two great seas, should be speedily constructed, and at the smallest practicable limit of cost. The gain in freights to the people and the direct saving to the government of the United States in the use of naval vessels would pay the cost of this work within a short series of years.

The senator from Alabama (Mr. Morgan), in his argument on this subject before the senate at the last session did not overestimate the importance of this work when he said that "the canal is the most important subject now connected with the commercial growth and progress of the United States."

If This Work Is to Be Promoted

by the usual financial methods and without the aid of the government, the expenditure, in its interest-bearing securities and stocks, will probably be twice the actual cost. This will necessitate higher tolls and constitute a heavy and altogether needless burden upon our commerce and that of the world. Every dollar of the bonds and the stock of the company should represent a dollar expended in the legitimate and economical prosecution of the work. This is only possible by giving to the bonds the guaranty of the United States government. Such a guaranty would secure the ready sale at par of a 3 per cent bond, from time to time, as the money was needed. I do not doubt that, built upon business methods, the canal would, when fully inaugurated, earn its fixed charges and operating expenses. But if its bonds are to be marketed at heavy discounts and every bond sold is to be accompanied by a gift of stock, as has come to be expected by investors in such enterprises, the traffic will be seriously burdened to pay interest and dividends. I am quite willing to recommend government promotion in the prosecution of the work if other means be not offered for securing its completion. It is of such transcendant interest that the government should, in my opinion, secure it by direct appropriations from its treasury. A guaranty of the bonds of the canal company to an amount necessary to the completing of the canal could, I think, be so given as not to involve any serious risk of ultimate loss. The things to be carefully guarded are: The completion of the work within the limits of the guaranty; the subrogation of the United States to the rights of the first mortgage bondholders for any amounts it may have to pay in the meantime; a control of the stock of the company as a security against mismanagement and loss. I most sincerely hope that neither party nor sectional lines will be drawn upon this great American project, so full of interest to the people of all states, and so influential in its effects on the prestige and spirit of our common country.

International Copyright, has been secured with Belgium, France, Great Britain and the British possessions and Switzerland and negotiations are now being successfully carried on with Germany.

With regard to the

the message says: A brief examination of the statistics of the treasury, and a general glance at the state of business throughout the country, will, I think, satisfy any impartial inquirer that its results have disappointed the evil prophesies of its opponents, and in a large measure realized the hopeful predictions of its friends. Rarely if ever before in the history of the country has there been a time when the proceeds of one day's labor or the product of one farmed crop could purchase such a large amount of things that enter into the living of the masses of the people. I believe that a full test will develop the fact that the tariff act of the Fifty-first congress is very favorable in its average effect upon the prices of articles entering into common use.

During the twelve months from Oct. 1, 1890, to Sept. 30, 1891, the total value of our foreign commerce (imports and exports combined) was $1,747,806,406, which was the largest of any year in the history of the United States. The largest in any previous year was in 1870, when our commerce amounted to $1,647,139,093, and the last year exceeds this enormous aggregate by over $100,000,000. It is interesting and to some will be surprising to know that during the year ending Sept. 30, 1891, our imports of merchandise amounted to $824,715,270, which was an increase of over $11,000,000 over the value of the imports of the corresponding months of the previous year, when the imports of merchandise were large, in anticipation of the tariff legislation then pending. The average annual value of the imports of merchandise for the ten years from 1881 to 1890 was $692,196,522, and during the year ending Sept. 30, 1891, this annual average was exceeded by $132,528,466.

Statistics are then given to show that while the value of the free imports has greatly increased, the value of dutiable imports has decreased, and that of exports has become much greater. Everything shows the country to be in a flourishing commercial condition.

The report of the

shows that the total receipts to the government from all sources for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, were $458,544,233.03, while the expenditures for the same period were $421,304,470.46, leaving a surplus of $37,239,762.67.

The receipts of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, actual and estimated are $433,700,000, and the expenditures, $400,000,000; for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, the estimated receipts are $455,336,300, and expenditures $430,452,093.

Under the Law of July 14, 1890, the Secretary of the Treasury has purchased since August 13th, during the fiscal year. 48,398,113 ounces of silver bullion at an average cost of $1.045 per ounce. The highest price paid during the year was $1.2025, and the lowest 0.9636. In exchange for this silver bullion there have been issued $5,057,496 of the treasury notes authorized by the act. The lowest price of silver reached during the fiscal year was 0.9636 on April 22, 1891, but on November 1st, the market price was only 0.96, which would give to the silver dollar a bullion value of 74¼ cents.

Considerable space is devoted to the silver coinage question, the president asserting that the present law, by increasing the amount of currency in use, has benefitted the country at large, but he predicts that a free coinage law would result disastrously. He recommends that the present law be given further trial before any radical change be made. He does not believe that the nations of Europe are yet ready to co-operate in the matter of silver coinage.

The Report of the Secretary of War shows that the percentage of desertions has greatly decreased. Good progress has been made in the securing of sites for harbor defenses and in the manufacture of guns.

The enlisted Indians have proved to be good soldiers.

The judges of the court of private land claims provided for by the act of March 3, 1891, have been appointed and the court organized.

By the enforcement by the treasury department of the law prohibiting the

to the United States has been effective as to such as seek to land from vessels entering our ports. The result has been to divert the travel to vessels entering the ports of British Columbia, whence into the United States at obscure points along the Dominion boundary entrance is easy. Very considerable numbers of Chinese laborers have, during the past year, entered the United States from Canada and Mexico. The officers of the treasury department and of the department of justice have used every means at their command to intercept this immigration, but the impossibility of perfectly guarding our extended frontiers is apparent.

The Dominion government collects a head tax of $50 from every Chinaman entering Canada, and thus derives a considerable revenue from those who only use its ports to reach a position of advantage to evade our exclusion laws. There seems to be satisfactory evidence that the business of passing Chinamen through Canada to the United States is organized and quietly done. Justice has construed the laws to require the return of any Chinaman found to be unlawfully in this country to China as the country from which he came, notwithstanding the fact that he came by way of Canada, but several of the district courts have, in cases brought before them, overruled this view of the law, and decreed that such persons must be [illegible] side.

This construction robs the laws of all effectiveness, if the decrees could be executed, for the men returned can the next day re-cross our borders. But the only appropriation made is for sending them back to China, and the Canadian officials refuse to allow them to re-enter Canada without the payment of the $50 per head tax. I recommended such legislation as will remedy these defects in the laws in my previous message.

The president warmly and

the administration of the pension bureau. About 35,000 claims will be adjudicated during the coming fiscal year. There will be a call for a deficiency appropriation this year.

The Irrigation Issue.

The president approves of the governmental control of irrigation affairs.

The president advises to continue the great fight against polygamy.

The president complimented the civil service commission. An increased appropriation is recommended.

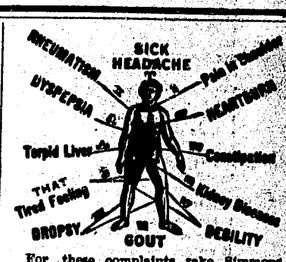
I have twice before called the attention of congress to the necessity of legislation for protection of the lives of railroad employes, but nothing has yet been done. During the year ending June 30, 1890, 369 brakemen were killed and 7,841 maimed while engaged in coupling cars. The total number of railroad employes killed during the year was 2,451, and the number injured 22,590. This is a cruel and, largely, a needless sacrifice.

In view of the scandalous methods used in the election of United States senators, the president suggests a constitutional amendment that will take the power from the legislature and give the people a voice in the selection.

In conclusion, the president says:

I have been greatly rejoiced to notice many evidences of the increased unification of our people and of a revived national spirit. The vista that now opens to us is wide and more glorious than ever before. Gratification and amazement struggle for supremacy as we contemplate the population, wealth and moral strength of our country. A trust, momentous in its influence upon our people and upon the world for a brief time, is committed to us, and we must not be faithless to its condition—defense of the free and the equal influence of the people in the choice of public officers and in the control of public affairs. BENJAMIN F. HARRISON.

Executive Mansion, December 9, 1891.



For these complaints take Simmons Liver Regulator. It keeps the stomach clear and prevents any of the above poisons from getting in the system, or, if there already it will drive them out, no matter how strongly rooted or long-standing, and you will again have good health and be happy.

Have you a pain in the side, back or under the shoulder-blade? It is not rheumatism but dyspepsia. Take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Does your heart throb violently after unusual exertion or excitement? It is not heart disease, but indigestion.

Take Simmons Liver Regulator.

"As a matter of conceived duty to humanity I wish to bear my testimony to the unfailing virtues of Simmons Liver Regulator. If people could only know what a splendid medicine it is, there would be many a physician without a patient and many an interminable doctor's bill saved. I consider it infallible in malarial infection. I had, for many years, been a perfect physical wreck from a combination of complaints, all the outgrowth of malaria in my system, and, even under the skillful hands of Dr. J. P. Jones, of this city, I had despaired of ever being a well woman again. Simmons Liver Regulator was recommended to me. I tried it. It helped me, and it is the only thing that ever did me any good. I persevered in its use and I am now in perfect health. I know your medicine cured me and I always keep it as a reliable 'stand by' in my family."—MRS. MARY RAY Camden, Ala.

THE REPUBLICAN PRESS

FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 18, 1891

OUR NEW YEAR'S EDITION.

The PRESS will issue a special edition on January 1, 1892, descriptive of the county. It will not be a boom edition, but a faithful representation of the county. It will contain special articles by able writers on the lumber, fruit, stock, and other interests of the county; something of the history of the county, descriptions of valleys, towns, pleasure resorts, personal reminiscenses, etc. It will also contain such illustrations as can can be secured between now and the date of issue. The edition will be 5000 COPIES. The paper will contain not less than 24 PAGES of a size about 14 x 18. Such a paper will be of great value to the county AS AN ADVERTISEMENT, and we hope the business men all over the county will give us their encouragement and SUPPORT. Every man in the county will be asked to take a few copies of the paper to send to his friends.

The edition will not be less than 5000, and if we get the proper ENCOURAGEMENT, will make it 10000. Our books are open for advertisers NOW, and orders for papers may be handed in at ONCE.

"THE Women's Society for the Correction of Public Abuses," is the name of the latest organization which has sprung up in San Francisco, says the Post, and its avowed object is to inaugurate a campaign of reformation. The society in question is young. In fact, it is still in it swaddling clothes, but judging by the noise attending its birth, it is a lusty infant and destined at least to make a bustle in the world.

WE are sorry to see that the Chilian government still seems inclined to be discourteous to our own representatives, and has as yet failed to give us the satisfaction in the Baltimore matter that we have a right to demand. It has always been the policy of the U. S. government to show moderation and forbearance in their treatment of smaller countries, but really if Chile will not be satisfied in any other way and must have a fight they will be accommodated in short order.

ACCORDING to our Democratic contemporary, when his party wins it is a heroic adherance to principle, an upheaval of the masses against the despotism of robber barons and corporations, a rebuke to Czar Reed, in short the better element of our people against all that is bad, wicked, and naughty. When his party loses, they owe their defeat to corruption, boodle, and rascality. How sad, how very sad it is, when we find all the goodness, patriotism, purity, and honesty in a great nation on one side, and that side usually in the minority.

ATTENTION is called to a well written article in the Pacific Rural Press, on "Mendocino Co. Hop Growing," by Ninetta Eames. In the course of the article the lady takes space to extol the wisdom of some growers in contracting their hops. The growers of this county would beg leave to dissent, too many have tried it and found it a great mistake. Experience has proved that an era of low prices so sharpens the discrimination of the dealer that the same grade of hops that sell at a good price in open market is not merchantable when under contract. Hops rejected by dealers, as unmerchantable, have been put on the open market and sold at above the average price.

THE Dispatch-Democrat, like so many Democratic papers, is now as much worried over an imaginary deficit in national finances as they were a year or two ago over the surplus. We would recommend Bro. Buckingham to read the President's message where he will learn that we have something over $30,000,000 between us and an empty purse. He had better rewrite his editorial and make it into a denunciation of the crime of having a surplus. It is really a very difficult matter to be a Democratic editor and be consistent. The course of events has so persistently knocked the wind out of their sails and their own party is tacking so often to catch the political breeze that the ink is hardly dry on their editorials before they wished they hadn't.

AT last the Supreme Court of California has rendered a decision in the case brought to test the constitutionality of the acts of Presiding Judge Wallace of San Francisco, who with the regular panel for Grand Jury not exhausted, and the Sheriff not disqualified, appointed an elisor to complete the Grand Jury. The Supreme Court has evidently given the matter careful consideration, for they brought in no less than five opinions. Six out of seven of the Judges think that Judge Wallace exceeded his power in appointing a person to select members to complete the Grand Jury, while the Sheriff was not disqualified. One only, Judge Sharpstein, upholds the action of Judge Wallace, and he does not go into the law of the matter, but simply falls back on a precedent. The six Judges are not fully agreed as to a work of prohibition being a proper proceeding to test the matter, but this is merely a legal squabble, in which laymen have no interest. Enough that a majority consider that said writ was not a proper remedy. We believe that a great majority of our people will heartily applaud this decision, not because they uphold Elwood Bruner, or Boss Buckley, or any other of these scoundrels. It is earnestly to be hoped that a legally constituted Grand Jury of San Francisco will bring in new indictments against these men as well as a score of other scoundrels, bribe givers, and bribe takers, in high and low places, and that evidence will be secured to send a large conclave of these rascals as an advance delegation to San Quentin. But whatever the demerits of these men, it can do no good to go beyond the law to punish them. If the law is to be subverted it would be better done by a vigilance committee than by the courts who are sworn to uphold it. The forms of law are a protection to the innocent, and are ample for the punishment of the guilty. Judge Wallace and the elisor-selected Grand Jury may, and we trust do have, good motives in their extra-judicial acts, but the precedent they would have set is far more dangerous to the innocent than to the guilty.

The Homestead Law a Republican Measure.

(Toledo Blade)

The death of George Wheaton Allen, the father of the homestead land law, from which fact he was familiarly referred to as "Land-bill" Allen, recalls the fact that the policy of that measure was a bitterly contested issue between the two political parties of the land. The homestead question and the tariff question were important issues before the people in the years immediately preceeding the civil war, though this fact is almost lost sight of in the greater prominence of the slavery question, and the tremendous war which its discussion brought upon the nation.

The homestead measure as originated by Mr. Allen, was practically that which was enacted into law early in Lincoln's administration — the granting of 160 acres out of the public lands to any actual settler who should reside thereon five years, and cultivate the land. The Republican party advocated this, as it did a protective tariff, in the campaign of 1860, which resulted in the election of Mr. Lincoln to presidency. It may be of interest to quote the two planks of the Republican platform of that year referring to these two measures:

PROTECTIVE TARIFF.

12.—That, while providing revenue for the support of the general government by duties upon imports, sound policy requires such an adjustment of these imports as to encourage the developement of the industrial interests of the whole country; and we commend that policy of national exchanges which secures to the workmen liberal wages, to agriculture renumerative prices, to the mechanics and manufacturers an adequate reward for their skill, labor, and enterprise, and to the nation commercial prosperity and independence.

HOMESTEADS.

13.—That we protest against any sale or alienation to others of the public lands held by actual settlers, and against any view of the homestead policy which regards the settlers as paupers or suppliants for public bounty; and we demand the passage by Congress of the complete and satisfactory homestead measure which has already passed the House.

The bill referred to in the concluding sentence above was Mr. Allen's measure; and it was passed by the Congress chosen at the election of 1860. There is no longer any question as to the propriety of that measure. No intelligent man in all this broad land but recognizes its great value in the rapid development of the mighty agricultural empire of the West and Northwest. That was a cardinal principal of the Republican party in 1860, while the Democrats were opposing it bitterly, and stigmatizing men who would accept land upon such terms as "paupers" and "suppliants for the bounty of the government," and urging that the measure would create states whose entire population would be on a level of the inmates of county poor houses.

The tariff question was also an issue then, and the success of the Republican party led to the enactment of the Morrill tariff law; and since that time protection has been the policy of the federal government. That policy has done more for our industrial development than the homestead land law did for our agricultural development. The two have been the prime factors in the enormous progress the country has made in the 31 years since 1860.

No stronger showing can possibly be made than the result of these two measures in favor of the soundness of the national policy of the Republican party, and against the narrow, bigoted and illogical policy which has always dominated the Democratic party in regard to national affairs. The homestead question is no longer an issue; the tariff question is, but it should not be. Its results ought to convince every broad-minded man that protection should be the settled, definitive policy of the United States, and the man who opposes it should be recognized for what he really is—the enemy of his country's best interests.

Into the Sea.

The S. F. Post of last Monday says that while the steamer Los Angeles was just off Ft. Bragg quite a sensation was caused by the attempted suicide of John G. Haltz, who jumped overboard. The steamer was stopped, a boat lowered, and in nine minutes after he made the leap he was landed safe on board again. Friends who came down on the steamer said that Haltz owned considerable land in Humboldt county, over which he had had great trouble, and that this had probably shattered his mind.

Why Not Grade the County License.

While visiting the County seat last month, I happened to step into a small grocery store while the proprietor was lamenting over his county license. He said his license was $36 while across the street there is a man who deals in drugs, groceries, dry goods, jewelry and in fact sells almost everything that is in the line of traffic. His county license is $36 also, Just the same as the poor grocery man I visited while there.

A liquor merchant who asks thousands of dollars for his place of business, his barrels and bottles are corded to the roof, his liquor license is $140 per year. While on my way home the stage halted at a watering place, where a man is trying to make a living for a large family at the same business, and the contents of his saloon or the goods on hand, would not amount in value to $25. I asked him how much was his county license and his answer was $140.

It does look to me like the license should be graded and give the poor man a chance by lowering his license or raising the rich mans.

Is Alum Poisonous?

(Hall's Journal of Health.)

"This question has caused a good deal of discussion. Alum is used by many bakers to whiten their bread, enabling them to use an inferior flour. It is most extensively employed as a cheap substitute for cream of tartar in the manufacture of baking powders. Its use has not been considered immediately dangerous, although if continued it induces dyspepsia and obstinate constipation. But the fact that many cases of poisoning have occurred from the use of alum, puts the question in a more serious aspect, and prudent people will exercise caution in the selection of baking powders."

"Under what conditions then, does this substance—formerly used only for mechanical or medicinal purposes become poisonous? They are certainly obscure, and at present we can only surmise what they may be. We suspect that the cause exists in the individual poisoned; some peculiarity of the constitution producing a morbid change in the secretions of the stomach, with which the alum combines and forms an active poison; or the secretions may be healthy but in unusual proportions, and that these less or greater proportions in combination with the alum constitute a poison."

"For example, two parts of mercury and two parts of chlorine form calomel, which is not poisonous, but change the proportions to one part mercury and two parts of chlorine, and we get corrosive sublimate, which is a deadly poison."

"Then again we know nothing of the constitutional peculiarities. Why is it that one person can eat all kinds of green fruits and vegetables with impunity, while the same course might cost another individual his life? One person can handle poison ivy and sumac without being in the least affected; another is poisoned if he approaches to within ten feet of them. Out of a family residing in a malarial district, some of the members will suffer half the year with fever and ague, while the others will enjoy excellent health during the year. Foods that are wholesome to some persons are actually poisonous to others. This is especially true of some kinds of fish. There is no safety in taking alum into the stomach, as it is shown to be always injurious, and often dangerous." **

The Scientific American published in a recent number a list of alum and ammonia baking powders, which is of great value at this time. Following is a condensed list compiled from official reports. Powders marked with a star seem to have a general sale, as they are mentioned in at least two of the official reports:

THE FDED LINCH ORPHANAGE.

An Appeal by Managers for Furniture, Provisions and Things Needed.

Oakland is about to add to the list of her benevolent institutions a very promising charity, to which little reference has been made in the public press. The Fred Finch Orphanage, established under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal church in the State of California, will be opened for the reception of children within the next fortnight.

The property, a gift of Captain and Mrs. Finch of this city, is delightfully situated on one of the sightly elevations of Fruitvale, over-looking the bay, and consists of six acres set in well grown fruit and ornamental trees, with a house and out buildings in fine order.

The location affords an ideal home for children. School and church are near. Water is pure and plentiful, and the drainage is perfect. The scenery is charming, the climate is of the best in the vicinity of Oakland, the grounds are laid out with fine taste, and fruits and flowers are abundant. The inmates of this institution will enjoy in rare combination the advantages of both country and city life.

Appeal is made by the Board of managers for gifts of furniture and fixtures and provisions preparatory to the reception of children. I venture to append a list of some of the things needed, and to solicit the attention of the benevolent to the claims of this new agency of usefulness.

There is required at the Orphanage, a bed lounge, palor stove, lamps, clock, pictures, rugs, lace curtains, carpets, matting, 9x4 sheeting, and pillow casing, pillows, towels, 3-4 blankets, comforters, counterpanes, and table linen.

Bureaus, washstands, granite bowls, small tables, mirrors.

Range, step ladder, kitchen table, dining table, dishes, knives and forks, spoons.

Carpenter tools, plow and harrow, garden tools, cow, horse, harness and light wagon.

Groceries, canned and dried fruits, canned meats, vegetables and provisions, of every sort.

Wells, Fargo & Co. have kindly consented to deliver portable donations free of charge.

Correspondence should be addressed to Miss Mable Urany, secretary, 1015 Linden street, Oakland.

Cash contributions may be sent to I. J. Truman, treasurer, San Francisco.—A. N. F. in Oakland Enquirer.

The Sham and the Real.

Every good thing has its imitators, every genuine article its counterfeits. The Ammonia and Alum Baking Powders sold over the counters are no more like Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, than the paste is like the real diamond, or a counterfeit is like one of the old master's genuine paintings.

When greedy and merciless manufacturers claim their adulterated and harmful baking powders are as good as Dr. Price's, they know they are not telling the truth. These people know they are destroying the stomachs and the complexion of the consumers, and there are many grocers recommending such powders over their counters—knowing same to be injurious and worthless—simply to make a large profit.

Dr. Price, a concientious physician, has spent a lifetime in perfecting and popularizing his Cream Baking Powder, the only Pure Cream Tartar Powder now to be obtained.

Multitudes of imitators all over the land have sprung up, not to imitate the purity of Price's Cream Baking Powder, but to see how cheap they could make their counterfeits and hoodwink the public.

Some use Ammonia and others Alum, but all these shams cry in chorus, "Buy this, its just as good as Dr. Price's and much cheaper.

Price's Cream Baking Powder is the standard for purity and perfection the world over, and is beyond comparison.

Dr. Price stands for Pure Food and a foe to all shams.

CHRISTMAS FOR ALL.

The "Press" Subscription List a Grand Success.

The Money to be Turned Over to the Board of City Charities.

The PRESS subscription list which was started last week, and the proceeds of which will be turned over to the Board of City Charities of Ukiah to be expended as they see fit in buying presents for the poor, is a grand success. Over $50 has already been subscribed, and that amount is expected to be doubled before Christmas. The Bee Hive Society came to the front with a donation of $7. The names of the members and the letter accompanying the money is given below. Many young hearts will be made glad Christmas morning, and it is to be hoped that the parents of the children who receive presents from the Society will accept them with a good free will—as they are given. Let every person in Ukiah, rich and poor, young and old, have a merry Christmas, is the wish of the PRESS.

BEE HIVE SOCIETY.

EDITOR PRESS—At the last meeting of the Bee Hive Society the members decided to assist in the Christmas Fund for the poor, started in last week's PRESS. We inclose $7, and may it make those as happy in receiving it as it does our members in giving it. Truly Yours,

The War Cloud.

The great exertion made by all of the European powers towards perfecting their armies and navies is certainly indicative of trouble in the near future.

Government officials all over Europe are watching, with an eagle eye, Russia's extensive preparations for war, and her rivals on all sides are making counter-preparations for the great struggle which must sooner or later take place.

Enormous sums of money have been expended in the construction of strategic railroads and other ways arranging for the transportation of large bodies of troops to their frontiers.

Germany and France, with their magnificent armies and navies, drilled to a perfection that the world has never before witnsed, are watching each other with the utmost suspicion and it is the belief of many, high in the councils of the French government that she would openly declare war to-morrow were it not for the fact that, so far, she has been unable to close a contract wherein her army and navy could be fully supplied with Golden Eagle Flour.

Fires at Westport.

A dispatch to the Chronicle dated Dec. 14th. says: The house known as Soldier Frank's at Cottaneva, burned yesterday. It caught from a defective flue. It was the oldest house in the northern country and was built in 1858. The occupants lost half of their effects. Lyman Leonard was the tenant.

John Sutherland's house burned here to-day. The contents were nearly all saved. Sutherlands family of thirteen persons occupy the barn to-night.

A Narrow Escape.

John Doherty, one of the brick layers at the Asylum, met with an accident Monday, which might have proved fatal, but as it was he escaped with only a few scratches. He was at work on an arch when the center gave way and he was precipitated to the ground below, a distance of about 25 feet. About two hundred brick fell with him, and his fellow-workers expected to find his mangled body when they reached the spot; instead they found him standing up and hurt very little. It was a narrow escape.

Chas. Kemp Kiled.

Jas. Clay shot and killed Charles Kemp in the Grand Hotel, at Eureka last Thursday. Clay on going to his wife's room found Kemp occupying the room with her, and both only partly dressed. It was then that he fired the fatal shots. Clay then went to the Sheriff's office and gave himself up. After a hearing before the Justice of the Peace he was held without bonds to appear before the Superior Court.

Encouraging Reports.

Reports from stock men throughout the county are quite encouraging. Enough new feed has grown to keep sheep in fair order, and the rains and cold snaps have been short. A continuance of as good weather as we have had will insure wool growers a profitable season.

Friday Night Social.

The social dance given by the Ukiah Orchestra last Friday evening was a grand success socially. This is the first of a series of dances they intend to give this winter. Their next social will be given next week.

HENRY HAAS AGAIN.

He Forged Mortgages on Lands in Mendocino county.

Wm. Hill, one of Petaluma's leading bankers was victimized to the tune of $1,200 by a fraudulent mortgage executed by Henry Haas, in the name of Silas Mitchell, on lands in Mendocino county. Haas is now in jail in San Francisco, and is the same man who, some time ago, figured in incendary fires at Guerneville. The mortgage fraud was not discovered until Mitchell, who resides in San Diego county, came to pay his taxes. He was astonished to find his line encumbered with a mortgage in favor of Wm. Hill of this city. About this time Haas had been arrested in San Francisco for some simular crookedness in another part of the State, and Mr. Hill went down, took a look at him and at once recognized him as the personator of Silas Mitchell. He is a bad egg.—Petaluma Argus.

Report of Treasurer of Board City Charities.

On the 8th of Dec. 1890, there was organized here a "Board of City Charities," which consisted of the several ministers, and one lady from each church. At the end of this, its first year, the Board wish to make a financial statement, so that the public whose money has been received may know just what has been done. Money received from all sources during the past year, $124.20. Expended $98.95. Clothing and provisions furnished by the Board $63.35, beside jellies and fruits for the sick.

The money on hand when the Board was organized was $10.45, the offering taken at the Thanksgiving session of last year, and $1.00 given by an inmate of the County House, who said he hoped it would do someone good. Some persons say there are none in Ukiah needing help, and the only reason we can give for their saying so, is, that they do not look for them. Last winter there were a number helped, who were loth to take it, and who would have worked if they could have found it to do. We thank Mrs. A. Marks for clothing when we were greatly in need of it; also all others who have helped us in this good work. Winter is here, and many are to be supplied, so that money and clothing will be needed by the Board, as will be seen by the above statement that but $25.25 remains in the hands of the Treasurer. The Board hope that persons having clothing of any kind, that they will give away, will leave it at the home of Rev. W. T. Fleener, who is secretary of the Board.

MRS. T. A. TEMPLETON,
Treasurer Board of City Charities.

Rainbow Entertainment.

Those who attended the entertainment given by the ladies of St. John's M. E. Church, were fortunate indeed, as the novelty was a complete success.

The dolls formed a beautiful collection, and a great deal of taste had been exercised in decorating each table in all of the colors of the rainbow. The tree, loaded with charming balls of rainbow hues, was beautiful, and Miss Susie Harris was kept busy stripping it of its blossoms. The refreshment quarter did a rushing business. The programme was well carried out; the children in the Infantry Drill and in The Rainbow, showing marked ability. The vocal music by Mrs. Seawell and Miss Ames, and the piano duet by Misses Ames and Howell were all that could be desired. The ladies wish to thank everyone who contributed in any way to their success.

NEW YEAR'S EDITION.

Very Extensively Illustrated.---Work progressing Rapidly.

Those who take an interest in our new year's edition should call at this office and witness the progress of the good work. Extra help has been employed and no pains or money will be stinted to give our readers the best paper of this kind ever published in Mendocino County. It will contain no less than twenty illustrations of different places of interest in the county. Able writers from every important valley in the county have been detailed, who will give facts in regard to resources, climate, etc. No hap-hazzard, guesswork about it, everything given as correctly as possible. The intention is to show up the county to the outside world in its true light. It is not intended as a boom edition, and as we have said before, will be confined to the truth and nothing but the truth.

The expense of the edition has already been considerable, and more to follow, therefore every business man in the county should help by giving a small "ad." You are not only helping in this worthy undertaking, but you are benefitting yourself a thousand times the price of your advertisement. Five thousand copies will be issued and distributed throughout the county, the State and the United States. Give your patronage, tho' it be small.

THE REPUBLICAN PRESS

FRIDAY MORNING, - DECEMBER 18, 1891

THE NATION'S CAPITAL.

CONGRESS WILL NOT DO MUCH UNTIL AFTER THE HOLIDAYS.

The Republican Caucus Selects Its Committee Members—General News of the Departments, Congress, Reports and Other Items.

So far as actual legislative business is concerned in congress no feature of interest has come up. It has come to be generally understood that while the time before a holiday recess in a long session may be employed in perfecting the organization of the two branches of congress, little can be attempted with profit in the line of legislation. Many senators and representatives, assuming that the recess will begin before the end of the week, have already made arrangements to leave Washington. The house will not meet until Wednesday, and after a brief session will probably adjourn with an understanding that on the day of reassemblage it will adjourn for the customary Christmas recess. Propositions have been broached that congress adjourn on Friday, Dec. 18, to Monday, Jan. 4.

Congress met Tuesday and adjourned after electing Crisp speaker. On Wednesday the president's annual message was read and referred, after which an adjournment was taken.

IN THE SENATE.

Nothing of importance was done by the senate until Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday the senate broke the record in the way of measuaes introduced in a single day, there having been 612 bills and eight joint resolutions presented. Among the bills were a free coinage and two Chinese exclusion bills, and one providing for a railroad to Alaska.

Among the bills introduced and referred were the following: To repeal all laws discriminating against the circulation of state banks; defining operations in "futures" and imposing taxes thereon; to establish a permanent census office; to prohibit, absolutely, the coming of Chinese to the United States; to amend the Pacific railroad acts; to reimburse several states for interest paid on moneys expended in raising troops; for the uniform classification of wheat, oats, rye, etc.

Other News.

The National Bar association held a session here. James C. Carter of New York was chosen president.

Senator Dolph of Oregon has introduced a bill for the stablishment of a gun foundry "somewhere on the Pacific Coast."

Attorney General Miller has determined to test the right of railways to issue free passes. He will shortly bring a suit against one New England road as a test case.

Acting Secretary Spaulding has instructed the collectors of customs at Buffalo, Ogdensburg, Suspension bridge and Plattsburg, N. Y., to photograph Chinamen arrested for unlawful entry. It is expected in this way to establish positive identification.

The Republican senatorial caucus committee, which is charged with the arrangement of the Republican representation upon the senate committees, has completed its work. The assignments are said to be generally satisfactory.

The acting secretary of war has made a decision that the period of forty years' service required by the act of congress approved June 30, 1882, to entitle an army officer to retirement on his own application, includes the period of service as a cadet at West Point.

Senator Paddock of Nebraska has the distinction of having introduced the first bill in this congress. It provides for the organization of a section in the department of agriculture to be known as the food section of the chemical division. The duties shall be to prevent the adulteration and misbranding of food, drugs, etc.

The house foreign affairs committee will consider the harsh treatment of Hebrews by Russia, and the committee will be urged to go as far as possible in expressing sympathy with the Russian Hebrews in distress, and to take such measures consonant with the usages of diplomacy as will tend to secure the amelioration of their condition.

Congressman Geary will present a bill for the complete exclusion of Chinese from the United States. In this bill he will favor no class; will provide a system of identification and certification that will prevent fraud; will suspend the habeas corpus and establish a system by which Chinese will be prevented from crossing the boundaries of the United States by land.

The treasury department has transmitted to the Western Sugar Refinery at Watsonville, Cal., the sum of $58,000, the first installment on the sugar bounty. The claims of this refinery for the season will amount to $85,000, with a total of $200,000 for the California state refineries, which are located at Alvarado, Watsonville and Chino.

The report of the department of agriculture at Washington gives the condition of growing wheat as 85.3. The returns showing the condition of the coming crops of winter grains are not generally favorable. On the Atlantic Coast some injury is reported on the early sown acres from the Hessian fly. The season is not favorable for seeding in the South on account of the continued dry weather, and the germination is slow from the same cause. Rains in the late autumn have improved the prospect. In the Western states seeding is late, the seed bed hard and cloddy, and germination is slow. The growth was unfavorable until November, when a material improvement was seen in most of the fields. In some districts the Hessian fly made its appearance, causing damage. The crop is 85.3, the average is 97. The condition of rye is a little higher than that of wheat, making an average of 88.8.

At Vicksburg, Miss, the wife and infant child of Albert Coman, colored, were victims of a diabolical outrage. She and the child were asleep, when some unknown person entered and poured molten lead in her ear and spattered a quantity on the child. The woman's ear was burned cut and she will die. The child is terribly burned, but may recover.

Edward M. Field, son of Cyrus W. Field and partner in the bankrupt firm of Field, Lindley, Weichers & Co., has been arrested at New York on an indictment charging him with grand larceny in the first degree. Field was taken from the private asylum in which he has been confined since the collapse of the firm. From the orders given by the district attorney he does not place absolute credence in the belief that Field is so insane as to be irresponsible for his acts.

The schooner Borealis, Captain Hansen, which left Victoria, B. C., several weeks ago on an experimental sealing trip to to Okhotsk sea, has returned after a stormy trip, with 400 skins.

In the case of Grace G. Isaacs vs. the Southern Pacific company at Portland, to recover $31,000 damages for injuries sustained in the Lake Labish disaster Nov. 12, 1890, the jury brought in a verdict awarding the plaintiff $11,000.

Professor Hamilton, a student and exponent of mesmerism, at Victoria, B. C., took part in a surgical operation performed by Dr. Ernest Hall, who removed a portion of the subject's jaw while he was under hypnotic influence.

CASUALTIES.

Two hundred and fifty people were rendered homeless by a tenement house fire at New York.

J. W. Smith, a miner was instantly killed at Jackson, Cal. He was repairing the shaft when a piece of track timber twenty feet long and weighing over 200 pounds got away from the men thirty feet above, striking Smith on the head and knocking him into the shaft. He fell 5000 feet. The body was frightfully mangled.

Christian Williams and Ed Hartness, both aged 16, went shooting near Sacramento. In getting out of their boat Williams pulled his gun after him and it was discharged, the contents entering his abdomen. His comrade pulled him out of the water and on a steep bank, but could not get him to the top of the bank. He left him there, still conscious, to call aid, and when the parties returned they found that the boy had disappeared in the water. His body was recovered.

Edward Ackt, aged 13, died at Paterson, N. J., from strangulation caused by swallowing half a hickory nutshell. The case is almost identical with that of Dr. Bothwell of Brooklyn, who died from the effects of swallowing a cork. Ackt was playing in the yard with several companions. He was cracking hickory nuts with his teeth when one of the boys made him laugh. As he did so a half which he had in his mouth slipped into his throat. He was taken to the hospital and the shell was located in the left bronchial tube. One of the surgeons went to New York to get one of the instruments used on Dr. Bothwell in the hope of prolonging the boy's life but the lad died before he returned.

Lena Bronson, a school teacher, living with her father and grandfather near Wichita, Kan., got the grip. The grandfather was 90 years old and had practiced medicine in his youth. He tried all his mild remedies on his granddaughter without effect and finally concluded that bleeding was necessary. The girl's father would not permit the experiment but while he was away the old man persuaded her to let him try taking a little blood from her arm. In his feeble hands the knife slipped and severed an artery. The girl tried to stop the flow of blood but without avail, and when the father returned he found his daughter dead and his father in a swoon by her side. The old man has since died from the shock.
